2. WHAT IS A COOKIE?

Cookies are small text files that are stored on your computer or mobile device. They are widely used in order to make websites work, or work in a better, more efficient way. They can do this because websites can read and write these files, enabling them to recognise you and remember important information that will make your use of a website more convenient (e.g. by remembering your user preferences).

Functionality cookies. These cookies enable the website to provide enhanced functionality and personalisation. They may be set by us or by third party providers whose services we have added to our pages – mainly YouTube videos. If you do not allow these cookies, then some or all of these services may not function properly.

Targeting Cookies. These cookies may be set through our site by our advertising partners. They may be used by those companies to show you relevant adverts on other sites. If you do not allow these cookies, you will experience less targeted advertising.

Performance Cookies. These cookies allow us to count visits and traffic sources so we can measure and improve the performance of our site. The data is aggregated and thus anonymous. If you do not allow these cookies we will not know when you have visited our site and will not be able to monitor its performance.
